

Social and Creative Activities

Upstream is an organization that aims to reduce inappropriate dependency on health and social care services by stimulating social and creative activities. It has run a course at Age Concern in Crediton in card-making and creating new things from old.

